I'm the king

Okay, so this is a collab sort of thing me and Dreamsinger rambled about. It's a crack story scene from her story called "Betrayal and Promises."

Her account: Dreamsinger32

Her story: Betrayal and Promises

(Crack scene originally inspired from chapter 2 in Betrayal and Promises)

"Your majesty, Jettison Q €" Hawkington. Silver the hedgehog has been found trespassing into the castle." The guards reported entering the castle as they bowed down to their ruler, Silver seen squirming on the guards grasp on him as he fidgeted and tried to escape.

"Bring him here so I can stuff him in my cake! He'll go perfectly with the cake and become my prize possession!" The green hawk cackled happily, his voice soon turning into more of a giggle than maniacal laughter, while gesturing towards the cake he kept near himself.

"Too bad! Cause I hate vanilla cake, it's like eating my own color!" The silver hedgehog retorted pointing his index finger towards the giant white frosted vanilla cake Jet placed next to his gold made throne. Disregarding the protests from the young silver lad, the guards abruptly walked towards king with Silver still in their grasp.

Once near to reaching the king, Silver used his special telekinesis ability to lift the guards making them lose grip on him as he jumped down speeding off towards the hawk.

Hurriedly reaching the green hawk he used his mind abilities once more; lifting the ruby jeweled crown from his feathery head. Then placing the crown on top of his head.

"I'm the king since I have the crown!" Silver nagged and cheered for himself as Jet's jaw dropped wide open; gawking at "his" crown.

Time frozen, clocks stopped ticking. Reversing back to their reality, the two girls stood there. One with blonde hair and pink bright eyes as she laughed a bit too hysteric, the other brown haired and brown eyed one shook her head in amusement. "This was hilarious!" The girl remarked as she finally finished writing down the story she and her friend Samantha worked on.

Well that's the one -shot crack scene story me and her wrote. Hope it was humoring to you all, and see you in another story BYE!
